

Collaborative Law Association of the Rochester Area Presents:
New York State Council on Divorce Mediation
New York Family & Divorce Mediation Institute

Conflict Resolution & Mediation Theory

Theory Drives Practice...

Yet, many of those who practice conflict resolution and mediation do so based upon an initial training and their personal experience of intervening in the midst of conflict. This training provides an opportunity to step back and consider why you might choose a particular intervention. What is your theory of conflict and how do your beliefs and values influence the interventions you choose? Students will learn:

- How ADR & Family & Divorce Mediation Developed
- Theories of conflict & mediation
- Practice models
- Techniques for connecting theory to practice

This interactive training includes dialogue, exercises, small group discussion, & demonstrations of practice.

Presenters:

Beth D. Danehy, MA
Bobbie L. Dillon, MS
With Donald L. Crumb, Esq.
